

HITCHCOCK TRIES MAIL CARRYING BY AEROPLANE

Postmaster-General Goes Up in the Air Himself and Drops Sacks

New York, Sept. 26.—Frank H. Hitchcock, postmaster general of the United States, qualified as an aerial mail carrier on Long Island last this afternoon. While a large crowd cheered vociferously, the postmaster-general took a seat beside Capt. Paul Peck of the United States army, in the latter's aeroplane at the Nassau Boulevard aerodrome, carrying seventy-eight pounds of mail matter. Without the slightest mishap, the two made a seven-minute flight to Mineola, where, upon signal, the postmaster-general dropped the mail sack to one of Uncle Sam's carriers. When the postmaster-general returned to the aerodrome he was again roundly cheered and the large crowd rushed on to the field to greet him.

"The time is certainly coming," he said enthusiastically, "when we must depend upon the aeroplane for carrying mail. It is not effective yet, but it is long being developed in a marvelous way and I think we shall soon find it practical."

Although some had expected that the postmaster-general might balk at the proposed flight today in view of the fatal accident which befell Dr. Clark yesterday, Mr. Hitchcock showed no timidity. He said he wanted some skating on the South pond the coming winter as they did in the playgrounds this past summer?

If the soldiers at the fort who are anxious for a game with the P. A. C. will put up a little coin if the champions of the Sunset League would not meet them on the diamond.

MASSACHUSETTS PRIMARIES SHOW NO DOUBT AT ALL AS TO FIRST OFFICE

Republican Frothingham and Democratic Foss for Governor, Each with a Big Lead Over Others

Boston, Sept. 26.—As an outcome of the first state-wide primaries in Massachusetts, held today, Gov. Eugene N. Foss will head the Democratic ticket for the second time, and Lieut. Gov. Louis Frothingham will be his Republican opponent in the November election. Both candidates are from this city.

The primaries brought a fairly good vote, although the total felt considerably short of that polled at the last state election.

Governor Foss had scarcely any opposition except from Thomas L. Higgen of Springfield, the president's opponent, Representative Russell A. Wood.

SYNAGOGUE ON NEWTON AVENUE

Having obtained no official answer to their offer to purchase the old Exchange building on South State street and disappointed by the protests against the sale of the building to them, the Hebrews of the city are formulating plans for the construction of a synagogue on the south side of Newton avenue. They announce the termination of their plan to locate in the old brick building on State street.

Mayor Daniel W. Dudgeon said today that it is doubtful if the city will let the latter's aeroplane at the Nassau Boulevard aerodrome.

A group of citizens organized the Portsmouth Army and Navy association with the expressed purpose of providing a place of recreation and entertainment for the sailors and the promoters assumed that the city would give the association the building, which would be raised and succeeded by a more substantial structure.

While the city has waited for the association the Hebrews offered $3500 for the building. Later the Salvation Army sent in an offer of $4000.

Residents of the adjoining properties have protested to the city against the opening of a synagogue because of the supposed noise that would be created. They also have protested against the sale to the army as the rumble of bass drum and the tinkle of the tambourine would not be a fitting accompaniment to their slumbers.

nitro-cellulose. This is a mixture of gun cotton, ether and alcohol. This is, we in this country believe, a more stable powder than the nitro-glycerin powder used by Great Britain. There is, however, very little difference except the effect on the guns.

Gunpowder cotton is more or less unstable. Alcohol is unstable when used in the making of smokeless powder.

"The question, Can gun cotton be made stable? has been asked many times during the past 60 years. Up to the year 1862 the answer had generally been in the negative, but since then the process of 'pulping' or reducing the fibre to short lengths has introduced and the operation of purifying the nitrated cotton is so much improved by this means as to establish a new status for this hitherto discredited explosive.

"So much for gun cotton. Now for smokeless powder, of which gun cotton is a part.

LEWIS E. STAPLES - 7 MARKET ST.

Judging from the 25 years' history of smokeless powder, it must be admitted that in the present state of our knowledge of its manufacture perfectly stable powder cannot be produced. With the most exquisite care in conducting every operation we find that one lot will exhibit signs of decomposition in perhaps two years while another lot, made as we think under precisely similar conditions, will endure for three or four times that period. This fact constitutes the most baffling phase of the problem and its lesson needs no elucidation.

"I will say, however, that in our own navy we run some risk. It has been minimized by the precaution we have made almost a part of a ship's discipline.

"Powder on the vessels of the United States is inspected and changed every few months. The magazines in which the powder is stored is kept as free from gases as possible by the use of blowers. There are more or less gases arising from stored powder. These gases are expelled through openings into the tanks or magazines by the use of electric blowers.

"We have had fewer accidents due to powder explosions alone than any other country. France has had more.

Every explosion in our navy has had a cause. The cause always has been found and remedied. But something with which we now are not familiar might cause an explosion at any time. There is an element of danger always, but not so much as there is in the handling of gasoline and other explosion ashore.

"Since a large number of the mishaps have occurred in the French navy should be noted that their powder is similar in composition to all other gun cotton powders; these powders only differ materially in methods of manufacture and care on subsequent supervision.

"I don't know the details of the last disaster, but I believe it will be found that decomposed powder was the cause."

OUR WARSHIPS RUN RISK OF EXPLOSION

In Spite of Precautions, There is Danger, Says Comdr. Strauss

Washington, Sept. 26.—Naval officers here were astounded by the first reports of the terrible naval disaster in Toulon harbor. Upon receipt of full press dispatches they agreed almost to a man that the explosion on the Liberte resulted from the spontaneous ignition of smokeless powder, which had deteriorated from having been kept too long without inspection.

"Such an accident which occurred at Toulon today is liable to happen any day on one of our own battleships or on the ships of any other nation." This was the statement of Rear Admiral Nicholson, chief of the bureau of navigation and acting secretary of the navy.

Admiral Nicholson's statement was corroborated by Commander J. Strauss, the foremost smokeless powder expert in the United States and one of the foremost experts on that explosive in the world. To a reporter Comdr. Strauss, who has spent 15 years of his service in the navy in developing powder, said today:

"France, like the United States, uses a smokeless powder made of

BAPTISTS WILL MEET NEXT WEEK

Several Anniversaries Will Be Amch. Features

PLANNED FOR TABERNAULE

Preparations Have Been Going On for the Gathering for Several Weeks

Conspicuous among the many events on the program for next week in this city, is the Baptist anniversary, the annual meeting of the New Hampshire Baptists and the several state organizations. The meetings will be held on Oct. 2, 3 and 4, at the People's Baptist church, of which the Rev. Samuel Russell is pastor, and which has been making preparations for the event for several weeks.

This demonstration as such began in this century in the days of Roger Williams when he was exiled from Massachusetts and went to Providence and founded that colony. It was the middle of the seventeenth century before the Baptists were established in New Hampshire.

In 1789 when Washington was inaugurated, the population of the United States was 3,750,000 and the Baptists numbered 50,000; today they have 5,250,000 and in the Sunday school 2,750,000. This with their constituency will reach to about 9,000,000. When Washington became our first President the Baptists numbered on in ninety-four of the population; today, they number one to every sixteen in the population.

The Baptists have 49,045 meeting houses; 33,909 ordained ministers; 23,633 Sunday schools; 185 educational institutions with nearly 70,000,000 in these plants, and over 50,000 pursuing courses of study.

They have 1349 students preparing for the ministry. They have fifty charitable institutions with endowments of $2,500,000. Their periodicals weekly and monthly number 197.

Here are some tabulated facts that appear in the records of last year in the United States; New churches built, 225, or four and one-third per week; new churches organized, 169, or three and one-fourth per week; additions by baptism, 321,403, or 6180 per week.

An important event in their life of this summer was the meeting in Philadelphia of the Baptist World Alliance. For a full week the representatives, men and women met compared notes and laid plans for wider and deeper work for the bringing of the whole world to Christ.

For this state the Baptists number almost 10,000 communicants with 8500 in their Sunday school. They have eighty-eight churches and several missions, and eighty-six ordained ministers. For home objects they contributed $90,329, and for benevolences, $16,961.

The anniversaries comprises the annual meetings of the ministers, conference. Historical society, the Woman's Home and Foreign Mission boards, the Baptist Brotherhood for Social Justice, Sunday school and Young People's organizations, and the large state convention.

NEW ORLEANS YARD VIRTUALLY CLOSED

The navy department is steadily carrying out the plans of Secretary Meyer for the practical closing of southern navy yards. An order published today detaches Capt. James H. Helm as commander of the New Orleans yard and assigns him to other duty. The yard is put in charge of Chief Carpenter Davis, who will be actually a caretaker and nothing more.

As the yard was created by act of Congress, it must continue to be a naval establishment until Congress directs its abandonment and sale.

PROVINCE PULP AND PAPER FREE OF DUTY

Washington, Sept. 26.—Practically all the wood pulp and print paper produced in New Brunswick until Aug. 1, 1912 will enter the United States free of duty. This is made possible by a revised rule made today by Acting Secretary of the Treasury, under the only operative clause of the Canadian reciprocity agreement.

The surveyor-general of customs of New Brunswick advised the treasury department that the new law of that province restricting the exportation of wood pulp and print paper did not apply to lands operated under licenses issued or renewed prior to Oct. 1, on which date the law became effective. These licenses are in force until Aug. 1, next.

MILD WINTER PREDICTED

While the severe rainstorm of Monday afternoon caused severe damage to crops and inconvenience to the telephone, telegraph and other public service lines, it brought with it the prediction of an open winter. Many of the older residents of the city agree that a thunderstorm breaking after the expiration of summer at was a warm and mild winter.

LARGE GATHERING AT PUBLIC LANDS CONVENTION

Denver, Col. Sept. 27.—An assemblage of men prominent in the political and industrial affairs of the nation such as never seen in Denver before will be present in the Auditorium when the Big Public Lands convention opens tomorrow. This is what the executive committee of the convention assures the people of Denver. Speakers who are national characters are coming from the East the West and the South, and the question of the future administration of the vast public domain will be discussed from every angle that can be brought to bear on the subject.

One of the biggest days of the convention will be the last October 3, when President Taft will talk.

Day and night sessions will be held and the general public will be admitted to the balcony and gallery.

The convention will be called to order at 10 o'clock on the morning of September 28, by J. Arthur Eddy, chairman of the executive committee. The invocation will be delivered by the Rev. Fr. Thomas H. Malone, of Denver. Governor John F. Shafrath of Colorado will welcome the delegates and Governor William Spry of Utah will respond.

The first address will be delivered in the afternoon, by Governor Joseph M. Cary of Wyoming. His subject will be, "Radicalism is not Conservation."

The exact dates of only a few of other addresses have been set, and these were fixed in the acceptances of the speakers themselves. These speakers with their subjects are:

Richard A. Ballinger, (Sept. 29, evening), "A Portrayal of American Bureaucratic Government."

J. F. Callbreath, (Sept. 29) "Injustice of the Public Land Policy Toward Alaska."

Governor James H. Hawley of Idaho, (Sept. 30) "What Should be Done With Our Western Forests."

Governor Chester H. Aldrich of Nebraska, (Sept. 30) "The Federal Special Agent System. A Menace to the Safety of Our Republican Institutions."

Governor Robert S. Vessey of South Dakota, (Sept. 30) "The Navigation Easement Encompasses all Federal Rights to Our Streams."

Governor Edwin L. Norris of Montana, (Oct. 2) "New Nationalism."

In all there will be twenty-eight set addresses presented upon which discussion will follow. The general subject covers a vast field and includes all of the natural resources of the great West. The members of the executive committee say that the deliberation of the convention will be of vital interest to the people of the western states, and therefore preparations are being made to seat as many people in the Auditorium during the entire convention as possible.

The remaining subjects with the names of the speakers follow:

"The Rights of the Present," L. Bradford Prince, former governor of New Mexico.

LIVELY DAYS IN STOCK MARKET

New York, Sept. 26.—Another outburst of selling on the stock exchange when trading began today carried down prices swiftly. As the gong sounded the opening of business on the floor of the exchange there was a rush to sell.

The crash was greatest at the post at which Union Pacific, the copper and U. S. Steel shares are sold. The gains made yesterday afternoon, in the recovery following the earlier depression, were largely swept away in a few minutes.

The confusion in the crowd of struggling brokers around the Steel post was so great that for some time it was impossible to determine the changes in price. The first transaction was a block of 12,000 shares at 55 5-8 and 54 5-8, an extreme loss of 1 1-4. The price soon fell to 54. U. S. Steel preferred lost 1 1-4.

Union Pacific declined 2 1-8 and other active railroad shares a smaller amount. The copper stocks developed further weakness and American Cotton Oil declined 3 5-8.

After half an hour of excited selling the character of the market changed abruptly. Buying orders appeared in sufficient volume to cause a quick return. U. S. Steel bounded up 3 points and Union Pacific nearly as much. Losses for the day throughout the list were soon eliminated or reduced to small amounts.

AN INFANT'S SKIN

The skin of infants is very liable to irritation, inflammation, chafing, cracking, roughness, itchy heat, rash, etc., which may be caused by improper food, impaired digestion, or other internal causes. Cadum, the new remedy, gives immediate relief in such troubles. It stops the irritation at once, allays inflammation, and gives the little sufferer complete rest and comfort. Cadum contains an extract from the tree Juniperus Oxcederoides, which has a most soothing and healing effect when the skin is inflamed, irritated or diseased. It is harmless and can be used with safety on the tender skin of infants. 10c & 25c.

Town of Acala, Mexico, the Scene of Most Barbarous Massacres

One Man Crucified by Rebellious Tribe

Mexico, Sept. 26.—Wenceslao Franco, a resident of Acala, state of Chiapas, was crucified by rebellious Chamula Indians when they sacked that place last Saturday, according to telegrams received by El Imparcial tonight from Tuxtla Gutierrez, the state capital.

The story was brought to the Red Cross headquarters today by Franco's wife and later confirmed from other sources. The woman herself had been left for dead after having been stabbed several times with a lance, by an Indian.

According to reports the insurgents committed their depredations in a manner most barbarous. Women and children were slaughtered by the mob, and of whose leaders was a fanatic priest. He was one of those killed.

Refugees declare the Indians made of the massacre of babies a gruesome sport, tossing them high into the air and catching them on the tips of their lances.

IN THE WORLD OF SPORT

Bobby Byrne, the National League's Best Third Sacker.

Bobby Byrne is now considered the best third baseman in the National league. The Pittsburgh Pirates' third baseman has played a brilliant game all this season and leads all his rivals in fielding. As a bunt grabber Bobby is in a class by himself. His speedy base running and his timely hitting have won many games for the Pirates this year.

Klaus Anxious to Meet Papke.
Frank Klaus is now on the warpath. The Pittsburgh middleweight has posted a forfeit to meet any man of his weight in the world. Papke preferred. Papke can no longer afford to ignore challenges from the bear cat who has been taking on all the tough boys and whose measure none has been able to take.

Klaus recently trimmed Cyclone Johnny Thompson, who not long ago earned a decision over Papke. The latter has run out of several proposed bouts with Klaus, and if he fails to come to time now Klaus will be perfectly justified in claiming the title for Pittsburgh's favorite son, and Klaus will be recognized as the premier of the class over which such celebrities as Jack Dempsey, Bob Fitzsimmons and Stanley Ketchel formerly ruled.

Trotter Uhlman Quits Particular.
Uhlman, the world's champion trotter, is a mighty particular piece of horse flesh when it comes to drinking water. Not so very long ago Tom Logan, who is proud of being Uhlman's valet, hit upon the plan of furnishing Uhlman with spring water to drink. Tom figured he would give the gelding a treat for a few days, but he had no intention of continuing the practice. When Logan tried to change from spring water to the old variety for Uhlman there was nothing doing. The star performer positively refused to drink. That's why Logan makes a five mile trip on a motorcycle every morning to provide Uhlman with spring water to drink.

Frankie Burns to Re-enter Ring.
Frankie Burns, the California lightweight, who was defeated by Champion Ad Wolgast in a furious battle at San Francisco a few months ago, has decided to resume operations in the ring during the coming season, and he is now ready to match up with any of the boys of his weight. Being only twenty years old, Burns figures that he can with constant practice and experience climb high up the ladder in the next year and eventually stand a pretty good chance of winning the lightweight championship. He can at least make a good living at the game, for his services will surely be in demand owing to the splendid battle he gave Wolgast.

Milan Playing Grand Ball.
Clyde Milan, the clever outfielder of the Washington Americans, is occupying a very prominent position in the records among the crack players of the American league. He is third among the base runners and tenth in run getting and as a slugger. The fact that he is on a team which is down in the race while the players who exceed him are on winning teams makes his showing all the more remarkable. This is undoubtedly Milan's best year in baseball. He has shown a lot of improvement in his work this year over previous ones, and if he were a member of a winning combination he would rank still higher.

RESULT OF WARSHIP DISASTER

235 Dead and 88 Injured---Cause of Explosion to be Subject of Investigation.

Toulon, France, Sept. 26.—A train at 88, with one man missing. The search of the wreckage of the battleship continued throughout the night, with the aid of great gas torches. Occasionally a launch drew away from the illuminated spot in the harbor, disappearing in the darkness, to re-appear presently at the pier with its load of wounded for the hospitals and dead for the mortuary. During the night 50 bodies were recovered and eight wounded men were rescued from that part of the vessel that remained exposed when the hull sank. These men had been penned in the ruins from 16 to 24 hours. Most of them were insensible from pain, and their rescuers lacked the assistance that their cries otherwise would have given in locating their exact position.

"Admirable Discipline."

Lieut. Aubert, son of Vice Admiral Aubert, commander of the fleet, described the admirable discipline on the Liberte. The lieutenant, who was serving on another warship, was sent with a party to help extinguish the fire on the Liberte. He found Senior Lieut. Garnier in command of the imperilled battleship, in the absence of Capt. Jaures and the second officer in command, both of whom were ashore.

A petty officer approached Lieut. Garnier and said:

"The fire, sir, is near the magazine. Isn't there danger of an explosion?"

"Attend to your orders," the officer replied. The petty officer saluted, and without further question returned to his post.

Lieut. Garnier perished in the destruction of his ship.

Capt. Jaures, who was in command of the Liberte, visited the wreck this morning and then spent the rest of the day at the bedside of the wounded sailors. A number of these continue unconscious from a cerebral disturbance, due probably to the fumes of burning powder which they inhaled. They may never recover their senses.

Turret Blown Upward Like a Shell.

The immense force of the explosion is shown by the fact that the turret of one of the 12-inch guns was wrenched from its base and thrown upward. Afterward, as might be seen from an examination at low tide today, it plunged downward like a great projectile forward of amidships, cleaving the warship in two.

The steel bridge, weighing many tons, was blown from its supports and crashed through one side of the warship, cutting the steel flank as if that flank was made of wood. Such results as these from the explosion could be preserved by the lay observer, looking at this tangled mass of wreckage with its twisted ship plates, its broken steel decks, its shattered barbettes, its confused wreckage of masts and chains and thousands of tons of structural steel.

The cause of the disaster continues to be discussed with animation among the officers and men of the fleet. Whatever may have started the uncontrollable fire aboard the Liberte, it was pointed out, might equally well fire any ship in the French navy. If the initial cause of the tragedy was the chemical change in the powder so that by the mere lapse of time it began to burn, not a life aboard any warship, it was argued, would be secure.

The general discussion of this vital question will, it is believed, result in an investigation of the most rigid nature, for French naval officers, without distinction of rank, are convinced that the time has arrived when the fleet should be brought up to a state of reasonable safety. The opinion of experts is generally against the theory of spontaneous combustion, yet no other adequate cause is put forward.

Judgment, it is declared, should be suspended until the searching official inquiry is completed, and there is every confidence that this inquiry will be thorough and impartial.

ITEMS OF INTEREST TO NAVY YARD EMPLOYEES

Early Battle Tests
In the old days it was sometimes six months after the vessel was placed in commission in the navy before she was actually ready for such service as she would see in battle. All this has been changed recently, and the department is working toward a condition where the ships must begin preparations for battle the day they are commissioned. The dreadnoughts Utah and Florida, now at the New York navy yard, and just out of the constructor's hands, were today required to hold a battle practice within a month after they are commissioned.

MANN---SPALDING
Young Navy Officer Takes Bride in this City

A very quiet but pretty wedding was solemnized at the Church of the Immaculate this morning when Miss Emily Reynolds Spalding became the bride of Lieut. Richard Ray Mann, U. S. N., in the presence of only the relatives and family friends. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Louis J. Rennolds, Chaplain, U. S. N., attached to the Portsmouth navy yard and uncle of the bride assisted by the Rev. Father Edward J. Walsh, P. R. The bride in a beautiful gown of navy blue was attended by her mother, Mrs. Katherine Mann. Henry J. Spalding, brother of the bride was the best man.

A wedding breakfast followed the ceremony at the bride's home on Islington street after which the couple departed on a west bound train for New York. The wedding trip will include a visit to Cuba after which Mr. and Mrs. Mann will reside in Washington.

The bride an accomplished young lady is a native of Fort Kough, Montana, and previous to taking up her residence in this city resided in Baltimore. The groom, one of the young popular officers of the service, is now attached to the U. S. S. Vermont.

The Herald Hears
That pedestrians took it on the run on Congress street, Thursday, when that auto made the sidewalk. That the early morning train from Boston to this city is not to stay after Saturday next. That removal of certain poles in the streets is causing a lively fight. That the city authorities say that the poles will come down. That if they don't there will be something doing. JUDGE ALDRICH SENTENCES POSTOFFICE ROBBERS TO 7 YEARS

Frank White one year, one day.
Arthur Williams, one year, one day.

Among the striking features of Grootie Winkel, the curiously named bazaar which the Fraternal Order of Eagles are to open at Freeman hall on Tuesday evening, Oct. 10th, will be the Dutch Wind mill in the centre of the hall. This is a large hexagonal structure an exact reproduction of one of those mills for which the Netherlands is famous. The arms of the mill revolve in a most natural way, and the effect is very striking.

To add to the general effect, one radical departure from the original has been made. The real mills of Holland for use rather than for beauty, while the one at Freeman's hall is mainly noticeable for its beauty and picturesque appearance. To heighten this, it is elaborately decorated with electric lamps, which are never seen on the real Holland mills. The revolving arms are outlined in white lights. The first story of the mill is also elaborately decorated with white lights, while the second and third stories are outlined completely in colored lights, these changing from one color to another every six seconds. It is said to be the most elaborate and beautiful centre piece ever used for an indoor fair.

Samuel Miles, 34 years old, who was arrested in Lynn, Mass., on the charge of stealing $27 in gold from Hiram Gardner, a fellow roomer in a lodging house on Bow street, conducted his own defense yesterday at the hearing in police court before Judge Thomas H. Simes. Though Miles pleaded eloquently he was held in $300 for the October term of the grand jury.

Gardner testified that Miles arose early Sunday morning and departed. When he arose the money was missing. During the session of court Gardner identified two of the four gold coins by the dates.

The theme of Miles' cross-examination of his fellow roomer and of his argument to the court, was that it is not a crime for a man to own gold. Miles did not subject himself to an examination by City Solicitor Samuel W. Emery, Jr.

Alexander Kille, 18 years old, arrested on the charge of conducting a disorderly house. The case, was continued for sentence.
